Councils move in to save on costs

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

TWO councils will join forces to create a single 'hub' for public services – and secure a permanent home for voluntary organisations.

Fears that Haverhill's council offices in Lower Downs Slade could be sold off by St Edmundsbury Borough Council sparked fears that the Citizens Advice Bureau and Haverhill Volunteer Centre, which are also based there, could be left homeless.

But the borough council's cabinet last night proposed a shared ownership scheme with Suffolk County Council, with the building retained as "the customer hub for public services at Haverhill, providing a single point of contact for both the public sector and a range of complementary voluntary services".

A report to the cabinet said an assessment of the building had considered a range of options, including selling it to rent other premises or building new offices.

Making no change was not considered an acceptable option, as the amount of space used by the borough council was too small, with a lot of vacant space, making the costs too high.

Cheers for dancers

POM-POMS were waving as a group of youngsters put on a show to demonstrate their talents at cheerleading and street dance.

Friends and families of children who attend regular sessions at Haverhill Leisure Centre went along to cheer on the young groovers at Haverhill Arts Centre on Sunday.

The event was scheduled to be staged at Christmas, but had to be cancelled because of the snow.

The classes are divided into four sections, catering for youngsters aged from 3 to 16. Leader Steph Stevens said the group was looking for more members and children could attend a free trial session.

NEGLECTFUL dog owners have been fined for “a considerable failure” to look after a Staffordshire bull terrier.

Shaun Moreno, 30, and Rachel Wagner, 26, of Westmoor Avenue, Sawston, both pleaded guilty to causing unnecessary suffering to an animal and failing to provide a suitable diet.

Moreno, the owner of Max, also accepted a charge of failing to provide a hygienic environment. The offences took place at the couple's former home in High Street, Castle Camps, from November 23 to December 7 last year.

Robert Starr, prosecuting, said: “RSPCA inspector Richard Lythgoe attended the property and found Max living in a concrete pen, with a base of thick, compact faeces. At the time of inspection, there was no food and water.

“A blanket was buried in faeces and the sleeping area was dirty. It was a considerable failure in looking after Max.”

Cambridge magistrates heard that Max was taken to a vet and found to have a dirty colouration on his legs, numerous sores, prominent ribs, spine and pelvis, and weighed just over 12 kilograms. His lack of nutrition had also made him anaemic, they heard.

The couple blamed the neglect on them moving house. They also admitted not seeking any help due to embarrassment.

Mr Sandeep Kainth, defending, said all other animals at the house, including rabbits and another bull terrier which lived indoors, were all well-cared for and had not concerned the authorities.

He said: “My clients have been co-operative and very candid with both the RSPCA and police. Max lived outside because he did not get on with the other dog. They gave him up to the RSPCA straight away.

“Max didn't like the biscuits and other food offered to him so he was given leftovers. My clients accept it was the wrong type of food.”

Sarah Hurcum, chair of the bench, told the couple, who have three children: “We are not going to disqualify you from keeping animals because all the other animals seem well cared for, according to the RSPCA.”

Moreno was fined £315 and Wagner £215.

Police link with company to promote students' safety

FEMALE students at two schools can feel even safer when out in the town from now on after being given personal safety alarms.

Suffolk Constabulary and local company International Flavours and Fragrances (IFF) bought the alarms, which were presented to girls in the sixth form at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College and Samuel Ward Academy last Wednesday.

The presentation was organised by Special Inspector Gerry Kiernan and crime reduction officer Bernard Plume.

Mr Plume said: “A number of years ago we joined with a local business to present alarms to female students. They were very well received by the schools and helped the teenage girls to feel safer when out with friends.

“We are very grateful for the support of IFF, which has generously match-funded our contribution towards the alarms to ensure every female sixth form student can benefit.”

Along with the alarm, each girl received information on personal safety.

Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team Inspector Chris Galley said: “Haverhill is a very safe place to enjoy a night out, but we would always encourage people to stick together, drink responsibly and arrange a way to get home.

“If any member of your group does consume a large quantity of alcohol, do not leave them on their own and make sure they are accompanied home. Stick to well-lit, public areas and let others know your plans.

“Police officers are on patrol in Haverhill town centre on busy Friday and Saturday nights, and are there to offer help and assistance as well as deal with any disorder.”

Woman is charged with helping prisoner escape

CHARGES of helping an inmate to escape from a Suffolk prison have been made against a woman from Essex.

Tracey Poulton, 26, appeared briefly at Ipswich Crown Court, where she was charged with assisting an escape from HMP Edmunds Hill in Stradishall.

Poulton, of Cawbeck Road, Little Canfield, was arrested after an incident last June in which it is alleged that James Whitlock, serving a 33-month sentence for theft, walked out of the prison.

Judge David Goodin told Poulton that she would have to reappear this week to enter a plea to the charge against her.

She was released on un-conditional bail until her next court appearance.

Whitlock, 25, who was arrested in the West Midlands on December 8, had previously appeared before magistrates in Dudley.

HAVO and CAB find home in office deal

■ From Page 1

The market value of the building was estimated at £220,000, but the report said demand for office accommodation in Haverhill was not strong and it could take some time to sell.

Options to rent accommodation elsewhere or build new offices were considered too costly.

The joint scheme – viewed by the county council as a pilot which could be repeated elsewhere in Suffolk – would see joint ownership begin in May, with improvement work on the building to be completed in time for county council staff to move in by September.

The building needs a new heating system estimated at £100,000 and glazing replacements estimate at £32,000, which will be done within the next year. The roof also needs recovering at a cost of around £200,000, which will be done in 2014/15.

Costs will be shared on a 50/50 basis between the two councils, making a saving of £36,000 a year for the borough council.

Council staff and voluntary groups are now deciding how they will occupy the new reduced space available in the building.

A spokesman for Haverhill Citizens Advice Bureau said: "We are going to lose a bit of space, but we are happy that we are going to have somewhere to offer our services from in the future."

County council staff will vacate their current building in Camps Road and some will also relocate from offices leased in Sudbury.

Bumper total: Nathan Smith, from Cineworld Haverhill, Abby Mayes, from St Nicholas Hospice Care, Sue Warren, of Simply PR, and Stephen Camp, from the cinema, with the £1,045 cheque.

Tangled up in £1,000 hospice donation

YOUNG film fans helped produce a bumper profit for their local hospice by attending a charity film premiere.

Haverhill Chamber of Commerce presented St Nicholas Hospice Care with more than £1,000 raised from its screening of Disney's 3D animated film, Tangled.

The audience had the chance to see the blockbuster five days film before it went on general release.

Cineworld Haverhill donated the screen for free and a pair of 3D glasses for every ticket holder.

Sue Warren, from PR firm Simply PR, is a member of the chamber and helped to organise the event.

She said: "I am delighted that we can present the hospice with more than £1,000 towards the amazing work they do in Haverhill."

"Every year, nurses from St Nicholas Hospice Care help people living with terminal illness in Haverhill by visiting them in their homes to provide care and support."

Abby Mayes, corporate fundraiser for the hospice, thanked the chamber for organising the preview and added: "I'd also like to thank Cineworld and Disney, and those that came along."

'Nasty attack' duo sentenced

TWO drunken attackers burst into a man's flat and beat him until he was unconscious, a court has heard.

Neil Massey was dragged onto the floor from a sofa and subjected to punches, kicks and being kneed before he passed out.

His two attackers appeared at Ipswich Crown Court to be sentenced, after pleading guilty to assault causing actual bodily harm.

Mark Hardy, 28, of Paske Avenue, Haverhill, was jailed for 10 weeks and told that because he was in breach of a suspended 12-week prison sentence imposed by magistrates for a public order offence, he would have to serve that as well.

His co-accused, 21-year-old Christopher De Lima, of Camps Road, Haverhill, was given an eight-week prison sentence, suspended for 12 months. He will remain under Probation Service supervision for 12 months and must complete 80 hours of unpaid community work.

The court heard Mr Massey had been at his flat in Strasbourg Square, Haverhill, in September last year with two young women when Hardy and De Lima arrived.

Michael Crimp, prosecuting, said an argument broke out between the two men and Mr Massey, who was then violently attacked.

After Mr Massey fell unconscious, his attackers fled and one of the women who witnessed the incident dialled 999. He suffered cuts, extensive bruising, but had escaped more serious injuries.

It was believed that the incident was connected to an earlier argument with another man.

The court heard that Hardy had appeared in court on 14 previous occasions for 22 separate offences, including assault and robbery.

De Lima had no previous convictions.

Anthony Huckersby, mitigating for Hardy, said his client, who had an alcohol problem, had drunk up to 12 pints of lager before the attack. He has now sought help from his GP and is on medication.

Mr Huckersby said: "He feels that he can't apologise enough for what he did. He is genuinely very sorry."

"This has acted as something of a wake up call for him."

Appearing for De Lima, Jamie Sawyer said: "There is a real vein of good in him. He is quite studious."

Mr Sawyer said that De Lima was also drunk on the evening of the attack, which had been out of character for him.

Judge Peter Fenn described the incident as a "nasty attack" on a man in his own home and in front of two young women.

Teen put lit cigarette through OAPs' door

PENSIONERS who smelt burning discovered a lighted cigarette butt had been dropped through their letterbox and had set the door-man on fire.

Bury St Edmunds youth court heard last week that the 65-year-old man who lived in the house stamped out the fire before it could spread.

Before the court was a 15-year-old boy from Haverhill, who cannot be named for legal reasons, who admitted a charge of arson at a house in Castle Lane, Haverhill, last October.

Andrea Reynolds, prosecuting, said the incident happened at around 10pm, when the couple aged 64 and 65, were sitting in their living room.

She said: "The victim was very distressed about the incident and believed they had been targeted, as their letter box was not easily accessible from the road."

"She was concerned that the fire could have spread and the couple had sealed up their letter box and replaced it with a box outside."

The teenager had committed the offence while subject to a six-month referral order for a previous offence, which included a curfew between 9pm and 8am.

Magistrates adjourned sentence until March 2 so that a full report can be prepared.

Nich Wray, mitigating for the teenager, said he had put the cigarette butt through the letterbox as a dare and had not realised it was still alight.

Mr Wray said: "He almost immediately regretted it and knew that he should have knocked, but he didn't. We went away and it is fortunate for him that nothing more serious happened."

"His mother is a single parent and he is problematic to her."

"He has issues with his use of alcohol, association with older people, anger and his education."

Sylvia Roberts, chairman of the magistrates told him: "You are aware of the consequences of this behaviour, you know what you are doing and you have got to address these things."

HAVERHILL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BUSINESS AWARDS 2011

Days still buzzy for young entrepreneur

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Schoolgirl Kiera Rosenwold is proof that age is no barrier to launching and building a successful business – she's been running hers for three years, and she's only 16!

Kiera was, however, too young to be in the running for a prize at the last Haverhill Chamber of Commerce Business Awards in 2008.

But judges were so impressed by her Buzzy Beads stall on Haverhill's Saturday market that they presented her with a highly commended certificate in the Young Entrepreneur category.

And she has continued to grow the jewellery business over the past three years.

Kiera, of Hamlet Road, Haverhill, said: "Since I won the award my stall has expanded twice and I started selling candles.

"I have been trying to source more things locally, as well as from abroad. It has been going really well and it gives me extra money which I can save or spend on things that I want. Getting the award was really good as it helped to let people know I was there and it was great recognition of all the hard work I had done."

But the Stoke College student has also been studying hard too, and has just been told she has earned a place at the Perse School in Cambridge this September to study for her A levels.

She said: "I am really looking forward to going to the Perse, it will be completely different. I take my final exams this summer, but I took my maths a year early and got an A*."

"I am taking 10 exams this year, including AS maths. I would like to go to university, but I don't know what I want to do then, probably something maths based.

"I would encourage anyone to enter the awards, it is a great opportunity to show off your business."

– Kiera Rosenwold

"But I will definitely carry on with the business, it has not interfered with my school work. I just work round it.

"I would encourage anyone to enter the awards, it is a great opportunity to show off your business."

This year's Young Entrepreneur award will be presented to an 18-25-year-old entrepreneurial businessman or woman who has demonstrated creativity and vision in their business.

Also up for grabs is the Customer Care and Service award, which gives Weekly News readers the chance to nominate an organisation or individual that has demonstrated outstanding levels of customer service.

To nominate a business or individual for the award, go to www.suffolkchamber.co.uk/haverhill

Sarah Howard, chairman of Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, said: "There is a category for every business to enter and the closing date is fast approaching, so we would like to see as many businesses as possible enter.

"If you have had particularly good service from a local company, or you think your boss or company is worthy of an award, then enter or nominate them. Let's show off our town and what we can do."

Closing date for entries is Friday, March 11.

Time is running out to nominate for the awards. Entries must be in Friday, March 11. Go to www.suffolkchamber.co.uk/haverhill and follow the 'Business Awards' link. The categories are:

- Large Business
- Small Business
- Retailer of the Year
- Customer Care and Services
- Export Achievement
- Best Use of Technology
- Young Entrepreneur

- (age 18-25)
- Employee of the Year
- Employer of the Year
- New Business
- Environmental Awareness
- Marketing Strategy of the Year
- Business of the Year.

You can also buy tickets to the awards gala ball, which will be held at Chilford Hall, Linton, on Saturday, May 14. Ticket are priced at £63.83 (plus VAT) per person or £600 (plus VAT) for a table of 10.

Woman's rape claim is fantasy, jury hears

CLAIMS by a woman that she was raped when she was a schoolgirl were "just a fantasy", a jury has been told.

Although he admitted knowing the girl, Jason Cutts, 43, said he had never acted inappropriately towards her and strongly denied being responsible when she fell pregnant.

Cutts, of Birdwood Road, Cambridge, was giving evidence during the third week of his trial at Ipswich Crown Court.

The Haverhill woman has alleged that in addition to being sexually abused by Cutts, he had introduced her to work colleague Phillip Skinner, 60, who had then also raped her.

Skinner, of Kitchen Hill, Bulmer, near Sudbury, has also pleaded not guilty to an offence of rape. Cutts, who is a qualified computer engineer, denied responsibility for indecent images of children which police found on his computer.

He pleaded not guilty to six offences of rape, two of indecent assault, 13 of making indecent images of children, one of possessing an indecent image of a child and one of distributing an indecent image of a child.

The offences are alleged to have taken place in the period between March 2001 and November 2005, some of them in Haverhill.

The court heard that Cutts had run a computer business with Skinner and had kept it going while Skinner was in prison for child pornography offences.

Questioned about emails which the prosecution say Cutts sent to the girl after she confronted him about his alleged offending, Cutts initially denied having been responsible for sending them.

However, later during cross examination, he accepted that he had sent the emails. The last email to the girl said: "I will turn myself in on Saturday."

Cutts had asked for a couple of days to say his goodbyes and added: "I might hang myself or disappear."

Cutts said he had never raped the girl and was not the father of the baby, for which she had a termination.

Earlier in the trial Cutts's former wife, Claire Laffley, said that during their marriage he would shut down the screen on his laptop whenever she came near and she had been unable to see what he was viewing.

The trial continues.

Euro MP joins protest over home closure bid

"HANDS off our home" – that was the message from petitioners who were joined by their Euro MP outside a care home.

Worried Haverhill residents are stepping up their campaign to save Place Court care home in Camps Road from being sold off or privatised.

Suffolk Euro MP Richard Howitt met town councillor Maureen Byrne and local campaigners who are collecting signatures on a petition to try to save the home. He added his voice to demands that the county council should reject any thought of closing the home.

Place Court caters for 32 older people with dementia and physical disabilities, and offers specialist care for people with Alzheimer's.

The MEP, who is a leading member of the All-Parliamentary Group on health, briefed the protesters on the European initiative on Alzheimer's disease and other dementias. Studies show that Europe needs 750,000 new care places by 2020, as the number of people suffering from dementia in Europe is estimated to nearly double every 20 years.

Mr Howitt said: "Providing high-quality care for the elderly, and especially those with dementia, is a growing problem across Europe and here in Suffolk – now is not the time to be selling off care homes."

"We are not talking about numbers on a balance sheet, we are talking about mums, dads and grandparents whose long-term care should be a priority. It would be a terrible upheaval for residents to be forced to move from the place they call home."

Local residents can sign the petition online at: <http://petitions.web-labs.co.uk/suffolkcc/public/> or sign the paper version at the Haverhill Arts Centre in the High Street.

Men face drugs charges

THREE men accused of travelling to Suffolk to supply illegal drugs have appeared in court.

Maninder Singh, 19, Choudhary Rafiq, 24, and Asad Ahmed, 23, all from Slough, are charged with conspiracy to supply class B and C drugs at Haverhill between December 22 and 24 last year.

During a preliminary hearing at Ipswich Crown Court on Tuesday, the men were told by Judge Rupert Overbury that they would have to return on April 15 to enter a plea to the charge against them. Singh, of Tamar Way, and Rafiq, of Ditton Road were released on bail until their next court appearance.

Ahmed, of Howard Avenue, was remanded in custody.

Police put extra patrols on estates

EXTRA police patrols have been added to tackle anti-social behaviour by youths who gather on a housing estate.

Special constables concentrated on the area around the shops at Leiston Road and Harewood Terrace, on the Clements estate in Haverhill, last Saturday during National Special Constabulary Week.

Inspector Chris Galley, of Haverhill police, said Safer Neighbourhood Team officers were treating the area as a priority after receiving complaints from local residents that they felt intimidated by large groups congregating in the area during the late afternoon and early evening.

Extra patrols will continue and the police will be working with other agencies in the area.

The Safer Neighbourhood Team will also continue to tackle problems of anti-social behaviour in Strasbourg Square, on the Chalk-stone estate, which was previously identified as a priority.

The next meeting for setting priorities for the SNT will be held at the Tesco restaurant at 7pm on Tuesday, March 8.

Inspector Galley urged anyone who has an issue to raise that they would like police to tackle, to go along to the meeting.

Shame on you, Mr Gurteen!

Sir, Is it still pantomime season? The reason I ask is because this last week's reporting of the meeting of businessmen in Haverhill shows Messrs Christopher Gurteen and Nic Rumsey are playing the parts of pantomime villains with great gusto ('Radical' ideas for more retail space, Weekly News, February 10)

"I see no listed buildings worthy of protection!" they tauntingly roar at the public. "Behind you!" everyone shouts in desperate hope of being heard, as the all too obvious and magnificent form of the old Gurteen's mill stands proudly and comfortingly in the middle of our dear Haverhill, like the home of some poor, abused widow-woman. Now I see from developer Nic Rumsey's Carisbrook website that his company offices appear to be based in a rather splendid old building in Grosvenor Square, London. Perhaps he might consider manoeuvring to have it torn down to be replaced by something modern, uninspiring and made of ticky-tacky to ideally sell to people to live in, maybe with a handful of worthless beans included as an incentive.

As for Christopher Gurteen, well, shame on you sir! Your family name is synonymous with many of the few decent, old buildings we have left in Haverhill, resulting from Victorian philanthropy. Like it or not, you are the custodian of a legacy that I hope will remain standing long after you have passed on. How your ancestors might be turning in their graves.

It is, of course, all about money, or the quicker the buck the better and not actually about what is best for Haverhill.

Back to the pantomime analogy: might we now see a character plod onto the stage bearing a placard with an acronym formed from the slogan "Save Haverhill's Old Victorian Edifices In Town"?

Bland buildings aren't radical

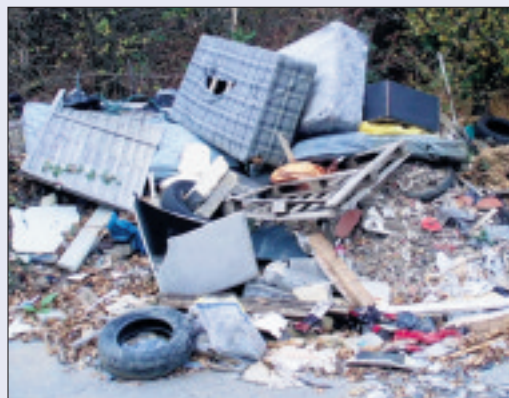

Sir, Haverhill has an incredible opportunity to continue its development and overtake some of its market town neighbours, but following on from last week's lead story ('Radical' ideas for more retail space) let's not look back in regret in 20 years' time.

Anyone who saw the 'lost buildings of Haverhill' exhibition last year cannot fail to recognise that some of the heritage of the town was lost with the Jubilee Walk development, and the Queens Square development.

A well-planned redevelopment of these areas would probably be widely welcomed, and joining up the space between Tesco (who says we don't attract major retailers?) and the High Street seems very sensible.

A relocation of the police station and the sorting office would be part of a co-ordinated Queens Square solution and provide some space for

Waste sites closure will see rise in fly-tipping

Eyesore: a pile of rubbish left in the countryside by fly-tippers.

Sir, As a resident of Haverhill I am very concerned about the fact that the recycling tip in the town may close due to council cutbacks.

There are 18 sites in Suffolk and up to seven of them may shut. If the Haverhill site was closed it would mean people would have to travel to Bury St Edmunds, Newmarket or Sudbury to tip their rubbish. Closing any site would greatly increase flytipping, with rubbish being dumped in alleyways, farmer's fields and outside people's houses. It would also put great pressure on our weekly refuse collection service, with rubbish piled high around bins and scattered everywhere. Haverhill would become one huge rubbish tip, so let's hope the site stays open.

Mick Driver

retail premises. What about a scheme to cover the Stour so it can be pedestrianised rather than an area for rubbish and shopping trolleys?

In respect of the retailers that Haverhill hopes to attract, the balance between the high-street retailers and the locally managed businesses that serve the town so well needs to be maintained. Would Costa Coffee be in Haverhill without Harry Zachariou's Deja Vu showing the demand was there? Let's not forget that Tesco's non-food offering was deliberately restricted with continued diversification of the High Street in mind. Howard Lay's observation about his students using Cambridge and Bury St Edmunds (hopefully he means at the weekend) is also useful – but we must ask them why they travel there, rather than assume we know. Do they go there for Primark and Next, or do they go because they are the places to go?

And on that last point, it is apparent to me that a de-listing and demolition of the Gurteen site seems completely unjustified. Knocking down our historic buildings to replace them with bland architecture would not be 'radical' – we've done it before. Radical would be embracing the listed elements and create a mixed-use area that could really inject some lift into the centre of town? The mills would undoubtedly create some contemporary, desirable, and aspirational living spaces that would attract just the type of customer that the high street retailers would be interested in serving, and some more office space in the centre of town would also increase footfall. Combining residential with some opportunities to improve the leisure facilities – maybe the Vu franchise can expand further yet – then Haverhill can truly offer something for everyone, even those in Saffron Walden, Newmarket, Halstead etc.

Forget the glitz, focus on learning

Sir, The recent front page of the Weekly News made me laugh, when Madeline Vigar said the Government should not allow Clare to have a 'free school'.

For her to say that she thinks there are not enough children to go round is beyond me.

I also noticed that there were no complaints from Miss Vigar over the building of the new Westfield Primary School, when there is a perfectly suitable building in the soon to be redundant Chalkstone Middle School, which would have catered for the larger Westfield. Plus, there could have been provision for a special needs unit which may have taken on administration staff soon to be made redundant.

As for the spiel at the Haverhill Vision 2031 launch in regards to education, I don't swallow the need to have all-through schools or academies.

There was also the suggestion that schools should be more glitzy, compared to the buildings of the 1960s. I don't agree, as some if not all of our greatest academics were taught in environments of a more institutional nature.

Youngsters go to school to learn. There is no need for them to be distracted by a glitzy environment, unless this is another excuse for youngsters underachieving.

Perhaps their capabilities overshadow the teaching they receive so best keep them distracted, then there is no pressure on the ability of the teachers. Parents who are unhappy with what their child is learning should do something about it, and not be put off by some of the nonsense from the educationalists. Let's keep the glitzy environments to the discos, please.

Maybe there should be separate upper schools in Haverhill for girls and boys, then there would be even fewer distractions.

New store helps hospice funds

FUN for children and a town crier to help spread the word marked the official launch of a revamped optician's shop.

Specsavers in High Street Haverhill hosted a day of entertainment in their recently refurbished store, which was kitted out with a balloon arch. A town crier also made an appearance to help make the celebrations a success, and entertainment was provided for children.

The store had collection tins for donations to St Nicholas Hospice during the event, and they will be in the shop throughout February in order to raise as much money as possible.

Raju Fynn, store

Now, hear this: fundraiser Lee Swiggelaar, store manager Raju Fynn and town crier Anthony Church.

director of Specsavers in Haverhill, said: "Whether it's through providing quality eye care or fundraising activities, we want to benefit the local community in any way we can."

"The refit will help us to achieve that as we can now deliver eye care to an additional 3,380 customers per year."

Abby Mayes, corporate fundraiser for St Nicholas Hospice Care, said: "We would like to thank Specsavers in Haverhill for choosing to fundraise for us. All donations keep the hospice in operation."

"We're grateful of every penny we receive, because without them we wouldn't be here."

Youngsters are urged to show talents

MINI Madonnas or magicians can show off their skills at a new talent contest for kids.

Auditions for a new talent competition for 5 to 12-year-olds get under way on Monday at Haverhill Leisure Centre's indoor play area, Kid City.

The Kid City's Got Talent competition is looking for young dancers, singers, musicians, acrobats, jugglers, magicians, and unusual acts to take part.

The final of the competition will take place at Kid City on Friday, February 25 at 2pm, and will be judged by Abbeycroft's chief executive Warren Smyth, Abbeycroft chairman Brian Jones and centre member Bryan Jones.

There will be three heats on Monday in which the youngsters will perform their act for two minutes. The winner of the competition will receive the Kid City's Got Talent trophy and the two runners up will be presented with medals.

Laura Flowers, assistant manager of Haverhill Leisure Centre, who has organised the event, said: "I see so many confident young children and hear their parents talking about their talents - how their son plays guitar, their daughter dances, even stories about talented young magicians, so I thought it would be great to showcase some of that talent at Kid City."

The final will take place from 3pm to 4pm at Kid City's Just Because party with wacky races from 4-4.45pm, with a disco from 4.45-5.30pm disco.

The winner will be announced at the end of the party. Tickets are £3 and available from the centre's reception.

The competition costs £3 per child to enter. Entry forms can be picked up from Haverhill Leisure Centre reception or downloaded from www.aclisure.com

Waste sites face axe as county cuts costs

HOUSEHOLD waste sites are set to be closed as part of the county council's savings plan.

The sites in Haverhill and Newmarket could be on a list of seven set to close out of a total of 18 across Suffolk, which are set to be made public at a county council meeting today.

The county council is refusing to reveal the list in advance of the meeting.

Cuts in opening hours are also planned at the remaining sites.

The possible closures have already come under fire.

Cllr Lisa Chambers, the county council's portfolio holder for waste, said she could not reveal the list of sites before a debate on the principle of the closures.

"It would be difficult to consult

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

in advance of the announcement because nobody will want to lose their local site," she said.

"This is not a position we wanted to be in. We have to find £42 million in savings. It's going to be difficult for all communities."

Cllr Chambers said that £2.35 million was being cut from the county's waste and recycling budget.

The site closures would save £800,000 and further savings would be made by reducing the opening hours at the remaining sites.

The closures are set to take place from May 1. The sites are run by contractor WRG (Waste Recycling Group) on behalf of the council.

Cllr Chambers said any job losses would be the responsibility of WRG.

At the same time the county council is trying to "divest" itself of 29 youth clubs, including Haverhill Hangar Youth Club, Clare Youth Club, Foley House in Newmarket, and Mildenhall's Jubilee Centre club.

A consultation paper issued on Tuesday invited community groups to take them over to keep them running. It can be viewed by visiting www.suffolk.gov.uk/youthclub2011

The deadline for comments and bids is March 31.

Sharing the love proves a winner

BUSINNESWOMAN Jan Cavelle got an early Valentine's Day treat when she won a weekend at a luxury hotel.

The founder of Jan Cavelle Furniture won a weekend for two at Hotel Du Vin in Cambridge. Jan had left a testimonial at one of her favourite Haverhill businesses, arevolution beauty sanctuary, as part of a national campaign run by 'thebestof' franchise group.

'The 14 Days of Love' campaign encouraged people to "show some love" for local businesses during the run up to Valentine's Day.

Theresa Foddering, from arevolution, said: "We have been established here for over five years and have built up a very loyal clientele in that time.

"It is great news that Jan has won a prize. She is one of our regular customers and always shows her appreciation for our service."

Views wanted to shape the future

PEOPLE living and working in Haverhill are being asked to share their views on what the town should look like in 20 years' time.

A series of open sessions began in Haverhill on Saturday.

The sessions, part of a year-long project being carried out by St Edmundsbury Borough Council, asks people to share their aspirations for practically every aspect of their lives – from job opportunities to leisure, and from care in old age to environmental sustainability.

The information gathered will help to establish the long-term vision for Haverhill.

Cllr John Griffiths, leader of the borough council, said: "Haverhill is now a success story and, with young people making up such a large proportion of the population, its future looks bright.

"Its people are proud of, and enthusiastic about, the town, as demonstrated in the way they have helped achieve so many major recent improvements in and around the town centre.

"Haverhill Vision 2031 builds on this and asks what people want the town to be like, for them, in 20 years' time.

"Much remains to be done and this is an important opportunity to help shape the town. I strongly commend these events to anyone who has an interest in the future of Haverhill."

The next sessions will be on Monday, March 7 at Haverhill Leisure Centre between 4-7pm, and on Thursday, March 10 at New Croft, between 4-7pm.

There is no need to book, just drop in and share your views.

Haverhill

THE recent meeting of Haverhill's U3A group was entertained by a talk on 'An English narrow boat on the French canals', by David Wetton.

Although David and Marrion had owned their narrow boat since 1988, they did not take it to France until 1999. Having travelled many waterways in the south of England, they enlarged their craft by 10 feet in length to 50 feet in 1993 to provide extra sleeping accommodation. This lengthening, however, meant that the longest road trailer (45 feet) was thought to be inadequate if ever needed for a cross-country journey. However, when the time came to transport the boat to France, the trailer driver chose his Channel ferry well and declared his trailer length as 45 feet, not mentioning a 5ft overhang! Thus, with the journey completed the boat was lowered into the Canal due Nivernais (twinning with the Kennet and Avon Canal) and the French experience had begun.

David soon found that the gas cylinder fittings in France were different and Marrion's shopping for fresh food became a challenge to find shops actually open when they had moored up for the night.

The frequent lock encounters were of interest, but none as impressive as the Saint Louis-Arzviller boat lift on the Marne Rhine canal to cross the Vosges mountains. Built in 1969 to replace 17 locks, the lift took just four minutes to complete the 45-metre ascent.

Cities visited included Strasbourg, where a draft of only two feet would rule out all but small craft and the flat-bottomed narrow boat from the UK, and Paris which has an interesting network of canals right in the heart of the city.

As an alternative mode of transport for relaxed sightseeing, the narrow boat scores well, but it was doubted many of U3A will take the challenge to repeat David and Marrion's courageous adventures!

The talk arranged for February 22 is entitled 'The Plight of the Leatherback Turtle' by Margaret Blanchard.

Van drivers urged to take chance to thwart thieves

VAN and trucks drivers are being given the chance to protect their vehicles from catalytic converter thieves during police 'marking sessions'.

Officers from Safer Neighbourhood Teams across West Suffolk have been trained to mark catalytic converters by engraving or stamping them and branding with heat-resistant paint.

Free marking sessions are being held next week, including at Mitchell Motors, 20-22 Hollands Road, Haverhill, on Monday and Sunday, February 27, both from 10am-4pm.

Detective Inspector Andy Footer said: "Since December, catalytic converters have been targeted all over the county, but predominantly in West Suffolk, with 52 stolen.

"It can take just minutes for a thief to remove the catalytic converter from your vehicle - but now it can take even less time to get yours marked.

"I would like to thank the garages for providing space for the marking sessions. Any 4x4 or van driver will be able to visit the garage during the sessions and have their catalytic converter marked by the Safer Neighbourhood Teams for free.

"I would particularly encourage drivers of vehicles such as Ford Rangers and Mercedes Sprinter vans to come along, as these are the vehicles most targeted.

"The catalytic converters will be engraved or stamped with the owner's postcode and also marked with heat-resistant silver paint.

"Drivers will receive signs for their vehicles to warn criminals that the catalytic converter is identifiable if stolen."

He added: "These simple steps can go a long way to ensuring your catalytic converter stays on your vehicle where it belongs.

"With metal prices remaining high, I would encourage all drivers of utility or commercial vehicles to come to one of the marking sessions and make your catalytic converter unattractive to criminals."

Show goes on for brave Jade

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Teenager Jade Donno battled against a bout of flu to take part in a national competition and is still chasing her dream of a singing career.

Jade, 16, sang at the O2 arena in the grand final of national singing competition, Open Mic UK 2010. She was one of 27 finalists chosen from more than 8,000 unsigned singers and solos artists who took part in the competition.

Despite singing her heart out and "owning the stage" Jade did not walk away with the top prize. However, she did "have an amazing time and loved the experience".

The week before the final, Jade from Sturmer, was ill, off school and in bed with the flu. It was touch and go whether she would even have a voice to sing with for the competition. On the big day a massive rush of adrenaline ensured that Jade found her voice and she was able to perform, but, she admitted, not up to her usual standard.

The judges commented that Jade had good stage presence, she used the stage well, her performance was energetic but her voice struggled to hit the high notes.

Jade had another week off school after the competition, but is now fully recovered and back to good health and voice.

Jade said: "Of course I was disappointed not to win the Open Mic competition, it would have been quite amazing to walk away with a record contract.

"However, given how ill I was beforehand I was just grateful to be able to get up on the stage and perform.

"Singing at the O2 was awesome and just made me more determined to follow a career in music. I do love performing and I want to thank everyone who supported me in so many different ways, with an extra big thank you to my mum and dad - Jenni and Paul."

Cards stolen from handbag

BANK cards were stolen from a woman's handbag after she helped a man in a supermarket car park.

Police are appealing for information about the incident, which happened in Sainsbury's car park at Haycocks Road, Haverhill, between 11.55am and 12.15pm last Thursday.

As the woman returned to her car, a man of oriental appearance put a map on her bonnet and asked for directions. She put her handbag on the passenger seat and helped him. She found the cards were missing and had been used fraudulently.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to the Crime Investigation Bureau on (01473) 613500.

Help for parents to fit work around childcare

Q: Since my divorce three years ago, I've been on Income Support and bringing up my two children alone. The youngest is coming up to her 7th birthday and I've had a letter telling me I will no longer be able to get income support and will have to look for work. I'm really worried as I haven't worked for a few years now and don't know how I could fit a job round my children, even if I could get one. Can you help?

Haverhill Citizens Advice Bureau this month looks at changes to the Income Support allowance and the help available for parents to get back to work.

A: The benefit rules have recently changed so that if you are a single parent who currently gets Income Support and your youngest child has turned 7, you will now have to move to Jobseeker's Allowance (JSA) if you are able to work.

The Department of Work and Pensions should write to you eight weeks before your child is due to turn 7, inviting you to an interview to apply for JSA.

However, there are some protections built into the new rules to take account of the particular difficulties lone parents are likely to face in juggling work with the needs of their children.

You will only be expected to be available for work during your children's normal school hours. And you may be able to refuse work if you cannot find suitable childcare or the childcare costs would be too high.

If you cannot work because you are sick or disabled, you may be able to switch to Employment and Support Allowance (ESA). If you get Carer's Allowance or look after a child who gets Disability Living Allowance, you may continue to get Income Support.

If you need support to start applying for jobs, JobCentre Plus offers a range of services to help you get back into work. For more information contact your local JobCentre Plus office. Go to www.direct.gov.uk

For more information about Jobseeker's Allowance, see 'Benefits for people looking for work' on the Citizens Advice website at www.adviceguide.org.uk

If you are still worried, a CAB adviser can give you free, confidential and independent advice on your situation.

Haverhill CAB can be found at the Centre for Voluntary Agencies, in Lower Downs Slade, Haverhill, CB9 9HB.

The bureau is open for anybody to drop in without an appointment between 10am-1.30pm on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

For telephone advice phone (01440) 704012 on Monday (9.30am-11am), Tuesday (1.30pm-3pm), Thursday (1.30pm-3pm) and Friday (9.30am-11am). The bureau operates a 'gateway' system for interviews. You will be given a short introductory interview (either face-to-face or by telephone) to help decide how you can best be assisted. As a result, you may be given self-help information or asked to attend an appointment at the bureau. www.adviceguide.org.uk also provides information.

African orphans put heart into art

UGANDAN children currently touring the UK as part of a choir got the chance to try their hand at some artwork when they visited a school.

The youngsters are members of the Watoto Children's choir and were hosted by The River of Life Church in Haverhill during a recent visit. The 25 children and their carers stayed with the church's local families in Haverhill. During their visit, the choir visited Samuel Ward Academy and were given some tips in the art room.

The choir is travelling around England for six months to give free concerts – with a collection at the end to fund good works in Africa.

All the children are either war or AIDS orphans, ranging from 9 to 14 years old. In Uganda they live in villages consisting of eight to 10 houses, with a house mother who takes care of them as her own.

Both their concerts at Samuel Ward and the Old Independent Church in Haverhill were packed.

For more information about the choir, visit their website, www.watoto.com.

Chance to dig up your history

TELEVISION star Carenza Lewis will visit an historic Suffolk town next month to encourage local residents to dig up their gardens.

A member of Channel 4's Time Team, Carenza (pictured right) will give a public talk at Clare Town Hall on Wednesday, March 2 at 8pm.

The talk will call on residents to get involved in a Lottery-funded archaeological scheme, The Landscape Partnership Project.

Residents will have the chance to uncover Clare history in their gardens by digging test pits, supervised by Carenza's team at Access Cambridge Archaeology, an outreach unit of Cambridge University. For more

Council's tax bills on hold

TOWN councillors are yet to decide on a tax hike which could secure the long-term future of their popular arts centre.

Haverhill Town Council has deferred a decision until next Tuesday, saying it still does not know what level of funding it will receive from St Edmundsbury Borough Council towards the cost of running Haverhill Arts Centre beyond next year.

Although the borough council has stated it has no plans to withdraw funding completely, its officers and members have been unable to provide an estimate of the level of future grant aid.

Haverhill town clerk Gordon Mussett has already warned that unless future funding levels can be secured, the centre could be forced to close or make most of its staff redundant.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Members of the town council are considering increasing their portion of this year's council tax bill – a rise of about 25p a week to the average payer.

But the move could go against a central Government bid to cap "excessive" council tax bills, and spark a costly referendum to decide the issue.

Town councillors were told that the borough council fully support the arts centre, saying it was "doing a great job" running it.

However, members said they could not agree funding for 2012/13 and beyond, or even estimate the increase, without further information from the borough council.

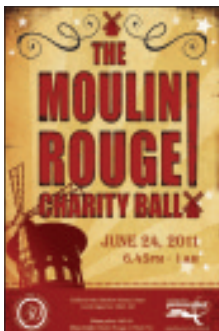

French twist to charities' ball

A SPECTACULAR Moulin Rouge Charity Ball will be held at Chilford Hall in Linton on June 24.

It will be held in aid of Cambridge Newspapers' community fund, Press Relief and the Arthur Rank Hospice Charity and features a spectacular show with can-can dancers and stilt-walkers.

The charities have put out a plea for businesses to sponsor the ball and to buy tickets or donate auction items for the event.

Lynn Morgan, chief executive of Arthur Rank Hospice Charity, said: "It looks like it will be a thrilling evening with a wonderful French theme. "We are so grateful that

Press Relief has allowed us to be part of such an amazing event and we are urging businesses and individuals to sponsor the evening and enjoy a great time to support two very worthy causes."

Cambridge-based Arthur Rank House hospice provides specialist care and support to adult patients and their family, friends and carers free of charge, and is offered to people living throughout much of the county.

Press Relief is a fund run by the Weekly News to help good causes.

For information on how to get involved, and ticket sales, contact Amanda Scarbrough on (01223) 434378 or amanda.scarbrough@cambridge-news.co.uk, or Hannah Bennett on (01223) 723115 or hannah.bennett@arhc.org.uk

Haverhill Cats Protection

Charity No. 203644

From humble beginnings in 1927, Cats Protection has grown to become the UK's leading feline welfare charity. They now help more than 215,000 cats and kittens every year through their network of over 250 volunteer-run branches and 29 adoption centres. The Haverhill branch found homes for 78 cats last year and helped neuter 160 cats. They also keep a lost and found register and will do their utmost to help reunite lost cats with their owners. But they are absolutely desperate for additional foster people, i.e. people who can look after a cat until it finds a new home.

Interested volunteers should phone 01440 730096.

Superbike star in sponsorship plea

SUPERBIKE rider Lee Johnston hopes his team will be crowned as British Supersport champions this season and is looking for sponsors to join him on his way to the top.

Lee, 21, has moved from his home town of Maguires Bridge, near Enniskillen in Northern Ireland, to Haverhill, where he works for Blue Square Interiors.

He is training at Abbeycroft Leisure Centre's gym and will be swimming, running and cycling to ensure he's fighting fit.

Haverhill-based sponsor Darryl Tate, of Gas Moto Racing, is aiming to help raise £20,000 in sponsorship for Lee to contest the British Supersport Championship this year and have the choice of three top teams to ride for next season.

Lee is part of Tag Triumph, the official UK factory team competing in the championship series, with many of the 12 three-day races at tracks including Silverstone and Brands Hatch shown live on television.

In 2008, at the age of 19, Lee won the British championship in the Supersport 600 class, achieving 10 podium finishes from 12 races. Before that he was Irish Minimoto champion in 2005, Irish Supersport runner up in 2006 and 2009 Sunflower Supersport winner.

Anyone interested in sponsorship can contact Darryl on (01440) 768877, 07973 631677 or email shop@gasmoto.co.uk

Praise for family as blaze engulfs house

FIREFIGHTERS have praised neighbours who woke a family asleep in their house before a fierce blaze in an adjoining garage reached them.

The fire service was quickly at the scene of the fire in Poplar Close, Haverhill, at 11.30pm last Thursday, which caused extensive damage to two properties.

The intense blaze destroyed the lean-to garage where it started, and caused extensive damage to the detached property next door, spreading through a conservatory, dining room, a first floor bedroom and reaching the roof.

The occupants of the house were out when the blaze started, and returned home to find their home on fire.

The house adjoining the garage was not seriously damaged and the family of four inside managed to escaped uninjured.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Paul Rickets, watch manager at Haverhill Fire Station, said neighbours had seen smoke and woken the family, and also called the fire brigade.

The cause of the blaze is still being investigated.

He said: "We were able to get there quite quickly, but it was an intense fire and spread quickly to the house.

"If the neighbours had not seen it and reacted so quickly, the consequences could have been much worse. They did all the right things.

"We would also like to stress the importance of smoke detectors, which were not fitted at either house. They are available free of charge from the fire service and they do save lives.

“If the neighbours had not seen it and reacted so quickly, the consequences could have been much worse. They did all the right things. We would also like to stress the importance of smoke detectors, which were not fitted at either house.

– watch manager
Paul Rickets

"A smoke detector gives early warning of a fire, but once a house fills with smoke it is not as easy to get out."

The fire also fractured a pipe, causing a gas leak in the area, with nearby residents were advised to stay indoors until it was dealt with.

Trapped deer freed

FIREFIGHTERS rescued a deer stuck in some railings. A crew from Clare went to the scene in The Street, Wixoe, on Monday at 6.44am. They rescued the muntjac deer using hydraulic equipment.

Cushions to be replaced

WORK to replace unpopular speed humps – for a third time – is due to start on Monday.

As reported in the Weekly News last month, Suffolk County Council will be removing existing speed humps, installing new speed cushions and resurfacing sections of Chalkstone Way, Millfields Way and Manor Road in Haverhill.

The first humps were put in more than 10 years ago following the death of a schoolgirl on the estate, but provoked complaints they were too steep.

They were later replaced with speed cushions, but residents said they were too far apart, allowing cars to drive through the gap.

Most of the work will be carried out during daytime road closures, in various phases, between Monday and Tuesday, March 1.

Installation of the speed cushions will be carried out

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

between Wednesday, March 2 and Friday, March 25.

The work also includes improvements to the drainage system and the reinstatement of zebra and various other crossing points.

All three roads will be closed along various lengths to carry out the works. Access to all properties and businesses will be maintained, as will access for emergency vehicles.

Advance signing will be used to advise drivers of alternative routes and there will be a specialist traffic management team on site for the duration of the closures to assist residents and other drivers.

Suffolk County Council apologises for any disruption experienced by individuals or businesses during this period.

The total cost of the work is expected to be £190,000.

Pop along for bloomin' good time!

There's a ballooning marvellous half-term treat at Haverhill Arts Centre next week with Circo Ridiculoso's children's show, The Balloon Gardener.

Danny the Wild Balloon Tamer has run out of balloons and must grow his own. The tamer turns gardener. Seeds of hilarity are sown as Danny attempts to cultivate bold, colourful, latex shapes in pots.

The plot thickens with whacky weather and problem pests, who attempt to eat Danny's luscious latex. Danny puts the rubber into shrubbery as this fool for flowers creates an organic garden of delights.

The Balloon Gardener is suitable for family audiences aged 4 and up. It is a highly visual fusion of top-notch tomfoolery and comedy chaos, and is suitable for the deaf, hearing impaired and non-English speakers.

But be warned – there's loud pops and flashes of lightning and comic genius!

The performance runs for 45 minutes and starts at 2pm. Tickets are £5 each or £18 for a family ticket (two adults, two children or one adult, three children).

To book, call the box office on (01440) 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk

This woman was once the face behind the news...

...in fact Sunita worked for her Grandfather at their newsagency in the North of England. From 6am to 6pm, 7 days a week she could be found behind the counter where she always kept a warm welcome for the local and regular customers. More recently though, her Grandfather suffered a serious motoring accident and the shop was forced to close. Out of work Sunita struggled to make ends meet while she nursed her Grandfather. That was when an ex-customer notified NewstrAid who quickly stepped in to help.

There are many people in the news distribution trade - some young and some not so young, who just like Sunita have fallen on hard times, others have retired or are unable to work due to disability. Perhaps you know of someone.

The big film

certificate 15 110m

JOHN Wayne won a Best Actor Oscar – from his only nomination – as hard-drinking gunslinger Rooster Cogburn in Henry Hathaway's 1969 version of True Grit, adapted from the Charles Portis novel.

It became a signature role for the actor known as The Duke, sharing the screen with a young Robert Duvall and Dennis Hopper.

Almost 40 years later, Jeff Bridges is nominated for the Oscar for the same role in Joel and Ethan Coen's masterful reworking, that layers this bloody tale of retribution with the brothers' trademark black humour.

It's clear from his first appearance, shifting nervously in a courtroom witness stand, that Bridges is not paying homage to his predecessor. He mumbles as if he is permanently chewing tobacco, spitting out polished one-liners like bullets. After a chaotic gunfight, he reneges on a promise to bury the fallen.

So that's how the west was won. "I was just 14 years of age when a coward by the name of Tom Chaney shot my father down and robbed him of his life," explains Mattie Ross (Hailee Steinfeld) in her opening voiceover. And so Mattie seeks out marshal Rooster Cogburn (Bridges) and hires him to help her track down Tom Chaney (Josh Brolin), who has taken up with Lucky Ned Pepper (Barry Pepper) and his gang.

A tenacious Texas Ranger (Matt Damon) joins in. True Grit has an impressive 10 Oscar nominations and deserves every one. Production design is impeccable, beautifully evoking the era when a gun spoke just as loudly as words.

Steinfeld, who was 13 when the film was made, is a revelation as the plucky daughter on a quest for vengeance.

Bridges is a hoot but some of his best lines are impossible to understand through his garbled delivery. Damon, Pepper and Brolin offer strong support.

The Coens canter through the brilliantly orchestrated gun fights but always remain tightly focused on the characters and the delightful if somewhat fractious relationship between Mattie and Rooster.

Aiming higher can help our climate

IMAGINE being cooped up in an office all day, returning to your urban home and walking out on to a rooftop which has been transformed into a tapestry of colour.

Rooftop gardening can help combat climate change by lowering surrounding air temperatures, according to a recent RHS survey and, with this in mind, the organisation is encouraging urbanites to make the most of their outdoor space.

"Getting planting right in urban spaces, which can be very limited, can have a major effect in not only helping reduce urban temperatures but will also provide other environmental benefits," says Tijana Blanus, who undertook the RHS research.

Other benefits of green-roof gardening include heat-insulation, water-absorption, providing a safe environment

by Hannah Stephenson

for wildlife and soaking up pollution.

The RHS is showcasing two modern-style rooftop gardens designed by two rising stars, Hugo Bugg, RHS Young Designer of the Year 2010, and Melissa Jolly, winner of a BBC Gardeners' World 2010 award, at the RHS London Plant and Design Show.

Their designs are aspirational, but it's not impossible to create your own roof garden, whether you just want a few pots or a raised bed or two, or a more elaborate green carpet. The RHS offers the following advice:

■ Before designing any addition to a property's roof check if planning permission is required.

■ How much weight the roof can take? Large containers full of compost and plants weigh a lot. There will be strict weight restrictions on balconies suspended out from the building.

■ Check if the roof is waterproof, using the services of a chartered structural engineer or a surveyor. You may have to modify roof supports if the structural survey shows that support is insufficient. Erecting a 'false' floor is a common method, where the roof surface is partly or completely suspended above the existing roof, directing weight onto surrounding walls.

■ Use an architect specialising in roof garden design for complex projects.

■ Place heavy containers near load-bearing walls or over a load-bearing beam or joist as these can take more weight than unsupported areas.

■ The main limitations of roof gardens and balconies are strong winds and sunshine. Take advantage of any existing protection, such as walls or fences, that provide shelter and shade.

■ Use slatted or mesh screens that simply filter the wind, creating a micro-climate for the plants within.

■ Containers will dry out rapidly in windy, hot weather so make sure they are a good width and depth.

■ Choose non-porous materials (plastic, metal and fibreglass) rather than terracotta as they reduce potential moisture-loss.

■ Ensure the container is lightweight and has ample drainage holes in the base.

■ Some companies, such as Green Tech Ltd, offer a range of lightweight soils and composts suitable for roof gardening.

■ Use a layer of lightweight drainage material at the base of the container, such as polystyrene plant trays broken into 'corks'.

UP ON THE ROOF: a garden on top of the house or on a raised terrace or balcony can help protect the environment.

YOUR GUIDE TO MOVING HOME

1 Moving home can be a complicated business and, in the hectic run to the big day, it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Property News offers their readers this handy checklist that should help avoid major pitfalls. We suggest you tick off the items as you deal with them...

WITH FOUR WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move.
- ☐ Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Notify British Telecom and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Arrange for change of address cards to be printed.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Confirm all arrangements, times etc, for meter readings, disconnections and reconnections, with authorities and with your buyer and seller.
- ☐ Make sure you have a good stock of packing materials, including sturdy boxes and plenty of string and sticky tape.
- ☐ Begin to throw out unwanted items from attics, wardrobes. What you really don't want you may as well dump now, or send to charity. It's a great time for a good sort out!

WITH ONE WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Send off change of address cards.
- ☐ Arrange and pay for automatic redirection of your mail by the Post Office.
- ☐ Cancel and pay up accounts for routine delivery services such as milk, groceries, fuel and your Cambridge Evening News. Re-organise these deliveries for your new address.
- ☐ Defrost refrigerators in preparation for move and, if you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.

WITH ONE DAY TO GO:

- ☐ Complete your packing except for those items you are likely to need overnight, and prepare a picnic for moving day.
- ☐ Have a large enough cash 'float' available to deal with unexpected expenses, and make sure you have collected documents and valuables together in a safe place.
- ☐ Cover carpets which are being left behind, so as to minimise damage during furniture removal.
- ☐ Check through previous lists to make sure nothing has been overlooked, then enjoy a worry-free early night!

2 ON MOVING DAY:

- ☐ Strip beds and pack bedding and nightclothes.
- ☐ Pack items for washing/toiletries.
- ☐ Take down curtains.
- ☐ Take up rugs, carpets, floor coverings, as required.
- ☐ Dismantle any light fittings etc., not included in the sale.
- ☐ Turn off electric appliances.
- ☐ Disconnect cooker.
- ☐ Turn off boiler/central heating.
- ☐ Turn off water.
- ☐ Read gas meter.
- ☐ Read electricity meter.
- ☐ Secure all windows.
- ☐ Lock all doors.
- ☐ Leave key as arranged with new owners.
- ☐ On arrival at your new home, unpack slowly and methodically so that you can check for loss or damage.

3 EXTRA HINTS FOR A SMOOTH MOVE...

WHO TO NOTIFY:

More green cars about

SINCE the launch of the Next Green Car Approved list in November, the number of searches and views for Approved models has increased by a significant 28 per cent.

"We are delighted in the interest in the NGC Approved list," says Melanie Shufflebotham of nextgreencar.com. "Our aim was to provide an independently selected up-to-date list highlighting the best of the best green cars and it seems that car buyers are responding to this – now they are able to identify the low emission cars that both suit their needs and are good for the environment."

THE FIAT QUBO: Leading MPV for low CO2.

The NGC Approved list, an independently selected list of the best green cars, currently has more than 100 models. The following have recently been added:

Hyundai i10 1.0l and Hyundai i30 1.6l: Hyundai's recent focus on low emission vehicles has been rewarded – the new i10 is a nifty sub-100g CO2/km, tax and congestion charge exempt city car while the i30 is in the small family class, a diesel with a CO2 figure of 110g/km.

Vauxhall Astra Sport Tourer 1.3 CDTi: This estate has CO2 emissions of 109g/km.

Ford C-Max 1.6 Duratorq TDCi and Grand C-Max 1.6 Duratorq TDCi: Both have solid tail-pipe CO2 emissions of 119g/km and 129g/km respectively.

Fiat Qubo 1.3 Multijet 95: Leading MPV with CO2 emissions of 112g/km.

Saab 9-3 Saloon 1.9TTiD and Saab 9-3 SportWagon 1.9TTiD: Just below the BMW 320d Efficient Dynamics model, the class leader.

Skoda Yeti GreenLine 1.6 CR TDI: With CO2 emissions of only 119g/km, the Skoda Yeti GreenLine becomes the first Approved SUV.

Aston Martin city car makes its svelte debut in the region

LANCASTER Cambridge hosted a launch event for the Aston Martin Cygnet at its Harston showroom last week.

The showroom was filled for the evening as more than 120 people took the time to check out Aston Martin's first-ever city car, a £30,995 set of wheels fired by a 97bhp 1.33-litre VVTi petrol engine, capable of 0-62mph in 11.6 seconds (with MultiDrive) and offering a top speed of 106mph.

The Cygnet is on sale now with deliveries starting in June.

Built at an extension to Aston Martin's headquarters in Gaydon, Warwickshire, the new arrival is based on the Toyota iQ. The iQ's engine is at the heart of the vehicle, with the Aston body and interior taking more than 100 man-hours to develop.

THE ASTON MARTIN CYGNET: Lovely interior.

"It's a whole new chapter for Aston Martin," said the firm's UK sales manager Marcus Blake. "It's not just a flash in the pan, we're not poking a toe in the water – we're committed to it."

The entry-level Cygnet is priced at £30,995, with the automatic version priced at £32,115 and the Edition Black, complete with a five-piece luggage set, clocked in at £39,995.

MAZDA: Both the vehicles and the dealership experience have conspired to keep UK customers in a satisfied state of mind.

Mazda tops latest satisfaction poll

IT'S almost time for the spring plate change, and the good news for Mazda is that it has topped a new customer satisfaction poll.

The brand and its dealers topped the automotive sector in the latest UK Customer Satisfaction Index with a score of 83.3 per cent, well above the car industry average of 78.4 per cent.

Every six months the Institute of Customer Service asks 26,000 people what they think about the service they've received from the UK's major organisations. The data is then collated and the results published as the UK Customer Satisfaction Index (UKCSI). The overall average score rose slightly from July 2010, from 75.6 to 76.7 per cent. The highest score in any sector was 89 per cent (for both Waitrose and John Lewis) and the lowest 56.8 per cent.

The top five results for cars in January's survey were:

Mazda: 83.3%
Volvo 81.5%
BMW/Mini 80.0%
Toyota 79.8%
Mercedes-Benz 79.6%

Mazda's winning and improved score – up from 80.6 per cent in July last year – is also combined with clear market leadership for 'perceived value' versus rival brands, in terms of comparing costs with customer benefits.

"This survey result is another strong testament to the quality of our products, our customer service philosophy and the ability of Mazda dealers across the nation to focus on what UK motorists really want," comments Steve Jelliss, aftersales director, Mazda UK. "Top place, with a higher score, confirms that our whole organisation and franchise network continues to be focused on delivering a quality and professional service at a reasonable cost, to ensure that Mazda ownership is a truly satisfying experience."

ICS research also found that the Top 10 customer priorities in the UK are:

1. Overall quality of the product or service
2. Being treated as a valued customer
3. Speed of service
4. Friendliness of staff

5. Handling of problems and complaints
6. Handling of enquiries
7. Competence of staff
8. Ease of doing business
9. Being kept informed
10. Helpfulness of staff

The scores are worked out from consumers' answers to questions about these 10 priorities and other, more general ones relating to overall satisfaction and how likely customers are to stay with an organisation, recommend it to a friend and buy its products/services again.

The twice-yearly survey covers more than 150 companies in the retail, financial, tourism, telecoms, transport and automotive sectors.

Renault Capturs concept of the car beautiful

RENAULT is set to debut the Captur at the 2011 Geneva Motor Show.

Captur aims at a "simple, sensuous and warm style that will be progressively extended to future Renault car designs".

"Captur is a fun and sporty crossover, ideal for a young couple about to discover the world", explains director of design, Laurens Van den Acker.

Designer Julio Lozano says the main sources of inspiration were athletes and radical sports.

"In designing Captur, I began with the image of a sprinter on the starting blocks, his muscles tensed, and the energy unleashed when the starting pistol is fired," he explains. "The design also references equipment such as helmets, gloves and other protective gear used in radical sports, combining high technology with sophistication and lightness."

But Captur does more than simply stir the emotions: it is also a practical and versatile vehicle. It is fitted with a hard convertible top which, once removed, reveals a carbon fibre framework.

Captur can thus transform itself from a coupé to a convertible, from an urban vehicle to an off-roader, while its overall sporty appeal is reinforced by its butterfly doors and big tyres fitted to 22-inch black and white rims.

THE RENAULT CAPTUR: Due at upcoming Geneva Motor Show.

Captur makes use of the Energy dCi 160 twin-turbo engine concept, developed from the new Energy dCi 130 that will eventually replace the 1.9 dCi. Downsizing is a key element in Renault's strategy to meet its declared objective of being Europe's leading automaker for low CO2 emissions.

The Energy dCi 160 twin-turbo fits perfectly within this strategy. It produces 160bhp from a capacity of 1.6 litres – that's a specific power output of 100hp per litre. Peak torque (380Nm) is available from as low as 1,750rpm, giving powerful acceleration from low revs, as well as refined performance under all driving conditions.

Paired with a dual clutch EDC gearbox, this driveline promises genuinely enjoyable driving with CO2 emissions of less than 99g per kilometre.

Definitely one to watch out for!

Takuyas freshen up Mazda range for new plate change

FOLLOWING on from the success of the Takuya Special Edition range introduced in mid-2010 for a limited period, Mazda has launched five 2011 Takuya models across the Mazda2, Mazda3 and Mazda6 line-ups.

The generously equipped Takuya options, which are on sale now, incorporate features normally only available with top-spec derivatives. The models are:

MAZDA2 TAKUYA

Priced from £11,940, the compact and sporty Mazda2 1.3-litre five-door Takuya has a price tag just £110 more than the Tamura model.

This Takuya boasts the addition of front fog lights, black sports trim, automatic climate-control aircon, a Parrot Bluetooth hands-free kit and a new rear bumper sports trim.

The interior benefits from side and curtain airbags, a trip computer, leather steering wheel and gear knob, steering wheel remote audio controls and four audio speakers.

MAZDA3 TAKUYA

Consumers requiring a larger but equally agile hatchback will find the 102bhp, 1.6-litre Mazda3 Takuya an ideal car.

Costing £1,145 more than the TS model on which it is based, this Takuya gets 17-inch alloy wheels, sports styling kit, front fog and LED rear lights, plus automatic dusk-sensing lights and rain-sensing wipers. Inside, there is automatic dual-zone climate control air conditioning, black sports interior trim, heated front sports seats, an integrated Bluetooth system, a six-disc CD changer and leather covered steering wheel and gear knob.

Prices start at £16,695.

MAZDA6 TAKUYA

Buyers with bigger families will find Mazda6 Takuya special edition models available in three different guises: a 2.0-litre 150bhp five-door (£20,495), 2.2 158bhp five-door (£21,675) and 2.2D 160bhp Estate (£22,325).

For £1,050 more than the TS models, all three variants benefit from the fitment of 18-inch alloy wheels, a sports grille, front fog lights, privacy glass and dusk-sensing headlights.

The interior features an alloy pedal set, half-leather heated seats, auto-dimming rear view mirror, dual-zone automatic climate control air conditioning, an integrated Bluetooth system and a six-disc CD changer.

A choice of four metallic, mica or pearlescent paint colours is offered free of charge.

Call EMG on 08442 447 447 for details.

THE MAZDA3 TAKUYA: On sale now.

Prices of fuel-efficient cars suggest changing attitudes

ACCORDING to the latest AA Fuel Price Index, petrol prices rose in January by the biggest amount in recent times.

Although there is considerable Government lobbying to slow down fuel price rises, there appears to be no immediate respite for motorists.

With this continued pressure on family finances, leading vehicle auction company, British Car Auctions (BCA) is seeing a significant increase in buyers seeking the most fuel-efficient vehicles which, in turn, is pushing up prices at auction.

"The demand is there, but the supply is a major issue for anyone wanting to buy the most fuel-efficient used vehicles," explained Tim Naylor of BCA.

"A quick look at our online stock locator on just one day found only 78 vehicles for sale throughout our nationwide network of auctions that matched the Fuel-Economy.co.uk list of most fuel-efficient cars.

"This is fairly representative of the current low availability of these vehicles as used cars and compares to the 12,000-plus vehicles BCA typically has consigned for sale on any given day."

The Fuel-Economy.co.uk top 10 for most fuel efficient diesels and petrol hybrids includes the Citroen C1, C2 and C3 – all 1.4-litre diesel models; the Honda Insight petrol hybrid; the Renault Clio 1.5 dCi and the Toyota Prius petrol hybrid. Its top 10 for most fuel efficient petrol cars includes the Smart Roadster; Smart fortwo; Toyota Aygo, Citroen C1; Peugeot 107 and Daihatsu Charade.

Naylor added: "As fuel prices continue to climb, we expect used values for the most fuel-efficient cars to keep rising as well."

The relentless price pressure that motorists are experiencing may well bring about a change in attitudes to 'eco-cars' according to

Naylor. "Only a very small proportion of motorists we surveyed last year for our Used Car Market Report believed that they would be looking at eco options for their next car", he said.

"Just 3 per cent said they would buy an electric-hybrid (1 per cent used, 1 per cent nearly-new, 1 per cent new) – a figure that had actually fallen by a point for two years running.

"But the sharp increase in fuel prices over recent months could convince motorists of the benefits of a higher MPG and lower CO2 emissions in the long run," he concluded.

ACTYON HERO: From SsangYong.

It's all Actyon for SsangYong

SsangYong will show a stylish new concept of its popular Actyon Sports at the Geneva Motor Show, March 3-13.

While maintaining the essential characteristics of a traditional pick-up, this concept presents a more contemporary look to reflect the styling expected of today's Sports Utility Truck.

The concept is similar in size to the current Actyon Sports – 4,985mm long x 1,910mm wide x 1,755mm high, and with a generous 3,060mm wheelbase. Satisfying environmental demands for Euro 5 compliance, the new 2.0-litre diesel engine produces a maximum output of 152bhp and maximum torque of 360Nm. Optimum torque is delivered across a low yet broad rev range of 1,500-2,800rpm, giving effortless acceleration from low engine speeds.

The new model will offer the choice of either 6-speed manual or automatic transmission in either two-wheel or four-wheel drive models. It will go on sale across Europe and other markets from early 2012.

LPG means filling up and getting value for money

MAZDA has seen an increase in Mazda6 sales to UK fleets who intend to convert the car to liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) with the expectation of lots more orders on the way.

Mazda6 LPG conversions have already joined the fleet of the LPG Division of fuel giant BP, with a number of other organisations also supplying cars for LPG conversion purposes.

The aftermarket conversions are all being carried out by Prins Autogas UK, which states: "LPG remains significantly cheaper than petrol, and businesses will recoup the after-market conversion costs, in most cases, within 18 months. Mazda's cars lend themselves for LPG conversion, particularly as having fitted the tank boot space remains significant."

Environmental benefits include a 10 per cent well-to-wheel reduction in CO2 emissions versus both petrol and diesel-engined cars, a 99 per cent reduction in particulate matter and a 95 per cent saving in nitrogen oxide (NOx).

At the Carphone Warehouse we really understand our technology. We love it. We dream about it. But we don't go all misty eyed when it comes to jargon and confusing pushy sales patter. We like to keep things nice and easy for our customers. We speak plain English and we don't work on commission. That means we are genuinely trying to help rather than chase a sales target. Simple, honest, straightforward advice.

You'll need to be a 'people' person. Able to communicate well, plan and organise your team and be a leader and an inspiration. Not to mention take responsibility for the performance of the entire store. You'll also have to learn the latest information about our fantastic new technology almost daily.

You wouldn't want it any other way. To see the future (and your future) visit www.careersatcarphone.com

Football: Youth round-up

Haverhill Rov 1 Cambridge Celts 1
Cambridge and District Colts League, under-13A

A DISALLOWED goal and a superb save from the Celts keeper prevented Rovers taking all three points from the leaders.

The Cambridge side took the lead in the first half with a well-taken free kick, but the home side reshuffled and began to get a foothold in the game. They equalised when Rhys Shulver headed in Leon Bailey's corner and could have taken the lead before the break, but Billy Bush's shot brushed the outside of the post.

Will Bailey was then twice denied the winner – the first being controversially ruled out for offside before the Celts keeper stopped him in a one-on-one showdown.

West Wrattling 9 Saffron Hawks 1

Cambs Mini League, under-11B
IN-FORM West Wrattling, buoyed by recent victories, put a depleted Hawks team to the sword, scoring five in the first half.

Cameron led the way with four, the other goals coming from Comer, Boon, Coleman, Overall and Holden.

Huntingdon Rowdies 1

Haverhill Rovers 4

S-Tech Cambs Girls League, under-16

ROVERS got back on track after four successive defeats, easing into a 3-1 lead before the break.

Stacey Roper gave them the lead after 10 minutes with Charlotte Westrope rounding off a well-worked move to make it 2-0.

Five minutes after Rowdies pulled a goal back Roper got her second and Katie Schulz wrapped it up in the second half.

■ Rovers' under-16s are on the lookout for new players. Anyone interested should call Steve Hull on 07759 016470 or visit www.haverhillroversyfc.co.uk

Rovers foiled in late flurry

Great Bardfield 1 Kedington 3

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-13 Knockout Cup third round

AFTER a testing first half played into a fierce headwind, Kedington eased into the next phase of the competition.

Great Bardfield converted a penalty and continued to pile on the pressure with the elements in their favour. However, Kedington's back four of Ash Wyatt, Aaron Thorne, Callum Dray and man-of-the-match Lewis Knightly stood firm and visiting keeper Jack Davis produced a good save when the back line was breached. Kedington, though, were level soon after half time thanks to George Mustoe and he gave his side the lead soon after. Jack Ferguson wrapped it up with a precise lob.

Castle Camps 1 Bottisham 1

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-12A

A DRAW was a fair result from a hard-fought encounter.

Castle Camps made the breakthrough five minutes from half time – Kane Robson slotting home – but the advantage lasted only five minutes into the second half.

After that the game flowed from end to end without any clear-cut chances being created.

Thurlow 3 Saffron Hawks 0

Cambs Mini League, under-10

THURLOW produced their best performance of the season to chalk up a good victory. Finley Plant scored the only goal of the first half but Thurlow took charge of the second half, Jack Edwards and Tyfun Yagir completed the scoring. Plant and Toby Catley also hit the woodwork.

Aztecs 6 Sutton Rangers 0

BM Kempton 9v9 League, under-12C

AZTECS returned to winning ways with a convincing display against league leaders Sutton Rangers.

Luke Wood opened the scoring in a lively start and, within a minute, Toby Goodship blasted the second and he added his second just before the break.

Hector Corey tapped in from close range to make it 4-0 and the scoring was completed by Will Savill and Jack Steward.

West Wrattling 6 Aztecs 0

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-14B

ALTHOUGH they admitted the scoreline maybe flattered them a little, West Wrattling were good value for their win in a magnificent derby.

Earle Lambert led the way with a hat-trick, the inspirational Mitch Burr struck twice and a superb goal from Mark Coulson wrapped it up.

And, although it was 4-0 at the break, keeper Aaron Millar was on his toes to secure a double clean sheet against Aztecs.

Haverhill Rovers 3 Parkfield 2

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-15A

A DEVASTATING second-half performance earned Rovers the points. They trailed 2-1 at the break, Liam Curran equalising an earlier goal before a wind-assisted cross gave Parkfield the edge.

However, Rovers responded well and Jordan Cowdrey equalised with a fine header before the excellent Danny Knight tucked away Christian Rose's pass 10 minutes from time.

Huntingdon Rowdies 3 West Wrattling 1

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-15A

WEST Wrattling missed the opportunity to put pressure on the two teams above them in the division.

The Reds, sponsored by theSafebox.co.uk, dominated the opening 25 minutes during which man of the match Harry Willett's stinging shot proved too hot for the Rowdies keeper to handle and Tom Warnock tucked away the rebound.

However, Wrattling did not heed the warning when only a fine save from Tom Pinker prevented an equaliser. Rowdies scored on their next attack and were then perhaps fortunate to take the lead when Pinker appeared to be fouled from a generous free kick and the ball was tapped in from close range.

And the home side wrapped it up from a free kick early in the half, as Wrattling created chances but could not finish them off.

Needingworth B O Hundon Hawks 14

Cambridge and District Colts League, under-12D

HARRY Sargent took his season's tally to 22 as Hawks stormed to another big win. He struck five times in the romp with the other goals coming from Milo Holmes 4, Jack Krempel 3, and Jake Ryan 1.

Rugby Union:

Six of the best from Lawrence

» UNDER-EIGHT

Haverhill chalked up two good wins at Hadleigh on a pitch where dodging the pot-holes was more of an issue.

They won the first game 25-15, skipper Hayden Lawrence scoring a hat-trick and Craig Martin-Gowing and John Adams going over for the other tries.

Lawrence, who handed over the captaincy to Marshall McKay, scored another hat-trick in the second game, which ended in a 35-15 win.

Adams, Oscar Harwood, Martin-Gowing and Luke Wheeler added the other scores.

» UNDER-SEVEN

HADLEIGH shaded a 20-15 win against Haverhill in their opening game, Ben Warren, Aidan Denty, and Ben McKay scoring the tries in a game where Madison Neill made her debut and Neve Quinn defended well.

However, they were denied victory in the second game when Denty's touchdown was chalked off because of a forward pass.

But, considering Haverhill were well beaten by the same opposition in their previous game, it is a measure of how far the away side had progressed that Hadleigh needed a late try to make it 30-30. McKay, Ben Marshall, and Denty were among the try scorers.

» UNDER-11

DESPITE dominating the game for long periods, during which they played their best rugby of the season, Haverhill were beaten 28-14 at Hadleigh. Although they shipped an early try, the visitors were soon level when a good run from Jack Sizer earned a penalty close to the Hadleigh line and quick-thinking Kit Browne darted over to score. Against the run of play, Hadleigh ran in two more tries but Sizer was again involved with Haverhill's response, his break leading to Josh Moseley touching down. Brandon McKay kicked both conversions.

Karate:

Rovers blow chance to step up pressure at top

Haverhill Rovers 1
Great Yarmouth Town 1
Ridgeons League, Premier Division

HAVERHILL missed the chance to go second in the league after dropping two points at home to Great Yarmouth.

Stuart Wardley put the hosts ahead from the penalty spot midway through the first half after Marc Abbott had been brought down by the goalkeeper.

Rovers felt the shot-stopper should have been sent off, but Owen Paynter and Dalton O'Brien were guilty of missing good chances to extend their lead.

They were made to pay for their wasteful finishing when they were pegged back with five minutes to go, although keeper Matt Morrison perhaps should have done better.

Haverhill manager Peter

Betts said: "We bossed the game for 85 minutes, but we had a five-minute drop in the second half and got punished."

"Matt Morrison perhaps could have done better for their goal from a keeper's aspect, but it was poor defending."

"We hit the post, had three cleared off the line and missed chances. With Dereham losing, it was a chance to make up some ground on them, and we could have gone second in the league."

Haverhill are back in Premier Division action on Saturday when they visit Stanway Rovers, before they entertain March in the last four of the Cambridgeshire Invitation Cup on Tuesday.

"It's the club's first semi-final for a long, long time and obviously the first one at our new ground," said Betts. "We're hoping for a big crowd."

Player shortage forces Haverhill to drop out of Eastern Counties top flight

HAVERHILL have been forced to withdraw from Greene King IPA Eastern Counties One.

And they have been warned that they could be cast into the wilderness for more than a year.

Haverhill were promoted last season, but have found it hard going in the top flight.

A lack of front-row players meant they had to call off matches against West Norfolk and Woodbridge earlier in the campaign, leaving the 'three strikes and out' threat hanging over them.

But with Saturday's scheduled match at Harwich & Dovercourt being a rearranged game, a spate of injuries and unavailability meant they could not field a team.

So they made the difficult decision to withdraw from the league.

Chairman of playing Tony Hope said: "After our efforts last week (the 33-12 defeat by leaders Stowmarket) we picked up quite a few injuries."

"We've tried to get a side through the week, but on Wednesday we went through it all and put emails and text messages out to rally some of the troops, with no success."

"So we had to call it a day in the league. The weekend's game was a rearrangement through the winter weather and it would have been a rest weekend, so we would have been okay."

"We were down to eight or nine players. It was the final nail in the coffin. Earlier in the season, when we had to call off against West Norfolk and Woodbridge for front-row issues, we took the results on the chin."

"If we had called off we would have been kicked out of the league and there would have been all sorts of things thrown at us."

"I have been involved with the club for 40 years and it's circular. Every club throughout the land has its lows, and this is a major low. I keep racking my brains as to where we've gone wrong."

Haverhill have been told that because of RFU regulations, they will not be able to rejoin Eastern Counties Two next season, although they are hoping that will not be the case. If it is true, their options would be to go into the Suffolk Merit League or the Deuxieme League.

Meanwhile, Hope is looking for teams throughout Mid-Anglia interested in playing fixtures on a Saturday.

He said: "We would dearly love to have a home and away fixture, so we can keep the boys playing and any of those needing more experience can get it."

>> Golf

Penman's looking to 'Wayne' in Alliance

WAYNE Penman is stepping up his challenge for Suffolk Golf Alliance honours.

The Haverhill member and his clubmate Andrew Fish took top spot in the latest round at Southwold, finishing with 43pts, a shot clear of James Tyler (Felixstowe Driving Range) and Jamie Horsfield (Woodbridge) in the Fourball Better Ball competition. Another Haverhill pair, Derek Thomas and Bob Spittle, racked up 39pts

It means Penman (198pts) is starting to close in on Order of Merit leader Ashley Boothe (203pts) with just three rounds to go, the decider coming at Haverhill at the end of March.

Boothe was top professional at Southwold with a medal round of 74, three clear of Kevin Eard (Bury Driving Range).

■ Roger Hartley came out top in the men's midweek medal, shooting a nett 62 which has trimmed his handicap by four to 20. Details - Division One: 1 Peter Garner 77-12-65, 2 Jim Walker 80-10-70, 3 Lee Chandler 82-7-75. Division Two: 1 Jonathan Wiseman 81-17-64, 2 Chris Mellings 91-20-71, 3 Mark Firman 87-14-73.
